

Harborlight Booking

A live Zoho CRM qualification scenario

A fictional appointment software business supplied the brief. The workspace itself was built in a live Zoho CRM organization, with public account research kept separate from synthetic commercial records.

What was implemented

- Research layer

Ten publicly sourced South African service businesses, source URLs, prioritization and a saved research queue.

- Synthetic operating model

One fictional company and three team contacts, with reserved .example addresses that cannot receive email.

- Opportunity and next action

One illustrative $4,800 qualification deal and one high-priority internal task. Both are labeled DEMO in Zoho.

Scope boundary

This is an independent scenario, not a paid client project. The deal value is invented. The follow-up task was entered manually; an automatic workflow and analytics dashboard remain future work.

Evidence key

The Zoho screen shows one deal, three contacts and one open task linked to Harborlight. The account itself is marked Portfolio Demo. Public prospects in the separate research queue are not presented as buyers.
